

Topmost Clock Free Download [Mac/Win]

Topmost Clock is a simple-to-use software application that displays a digital and analog clock, which stays on top of other programs. It features several skins and configuration options. Installing this tool is done in no time, and no special input is required. At startup, Topmost Clock creates an icon in the system area. Unfortunately, it does not integrate an option for disabling the frame from staying on top of other utilities. It is possible to hide the analog clock or just its seconds, as well as to change the numbering mode to Roman or modern. The digital version can be disabled as well. Alternatively, you can make the seconds or date invisible, alter the date format, edit font settings, as well as toggle between 12-hour and 24-hour mode. Furthermore, you can customize the color for analog and digital view separately, and increase or decrease the frame size. Help documentation is available for inexperienced users.

Topmost Clock is an easy to use digital and analog clock application that shows time accurately and stays on top of other programs. The analog clock looks really good with various skins, the days of the week, week and month numbering, date, months, years, hours and minutes, am/pm and the color of the digits can be changed. The digital clock also features skins and can be showed as AM/PM, 12 or 24 hour, with up to 3 additional digits. There is also a second analog clock. You can also toggle between 12 hour and 24 hour display and change the color of the hour and minute hands, seconds hand and digits. All skins can be saved as background images for the digital and analog clocks. You can also change the skin at startup if you want. You can also edit the displayed text by changing the font, size and color. The color of the digits and the background is also changeable with various settings. Topmost Clock supports external and internal alarms. The alarms can also be dismissed when the app is opened. The alarms can be set to wake-up and ring on one of the following days and hours: day, 6 am, 6 pm, midnight, noon, 6 am and 6 pm. It will also wake up based on the brightness of the display. The alarm can also be set to run in the background even when the main app is closed. You can keep Topmost Clock in the foreground for the duration it's running, or not. You can choose a sound for alarms as well as have the alarms start at the half or the full hour. You can also specify which group is used to wake the device up. Last, Topmost Clock has been optimized for performance and battery life. It only uses about 25% of the CPU and only uses about 22Mb RAM on the device. A nice thing about Topmost Clock is that it keeps the clock alive without having to constantly be running. Your device will have a small screen effect while the clock is running but it won't consume any more battery life than regular other apps. The clock is also smart enough to only stay on top of other apps when you need it to. Topmost Clock has a simple to use setup and you won't need any extra information to get started. No special input is required to get the clock working. Simply run the app and it creates an icon in the system area. The setup process is very quick and self explanatory, and you can just start
